Otherwise.

It was cold yesterday, but not so cold for the Nationals as for their opponents.

There was an unusually large crowd out to see the game yesterday, which speaks well for the coming season's patronage.

Bob Barr is still the giant of the nine, and the way he handled the sphere yesterday demonstrated the fact that his hand has lost none of its cunning. He will make a record this year to be proud of, or there will be an epidemic in the Health office.

The Brown's Liversities show up, well.

be an epidemic in the Health office.

The Brown's Universitys show up well. They are a nice lot of boys, and are game, but they can't play ball with the heavy-weights of the Nationals. Their uniform is very neat, their jersey jackets reminding one of the Princetons. Seagrave, at centre field, is a hustler, and took everything that came in his way, and more, too. Chase played first base for all it was worth. Fifteen put outs find no errors for an opening game will stand the Civil-Service test.

Every one was anxious to see Paul Hines kneck a board off the centre-field feare, but he failed to do so. He had to treat the Providence boys a little clever, "you know."

Senators were holding a caucus in Senator Edmonds' room. It's a mistake. Entre now, they all went in there so that they could enjoy the game without being disturbed. It is said that when Bob Barr made his home run, Senator Edmunds hit Senator Ingalis in the pit of his stomach in a way that doubled him up, though he only mennt to express delight. The only two in the whole party who did not enjoy the game were the two Rhode Island Senators. Of the new men, Hoover did the best work in the field. He is a baseball player. Knowles was not far behind, though he had several fielding errors. His two three-baggers were dandies. He hit the ball safely four times in five times at the hall safely four times in five times at the bat. "Sadie" Houck was given a reception. Someway he disappointed the boys, however. He did not roll in the dirt and his clothes looked unnaturally clean. Living in Boston bas spoilt him. PEARSON APPOINTED POSTMASTER

How the President was Induced to Commit the Inconsistent Act-The Reasons that Swayed Him.

The President sent to the Senate to-day the following nominations

To be Envoys Extraordinary and Min isters Plenipotentiary of the United States—WILLIAM R. ROBERTS of New York to Chill. CHARLES W. BUCK of Kentucky to Peru

CHARLES W. BUCK of Kentucky to Peru.

Charles T. Russell of Connecticut to be United States Consul at Liverpool, Eng.
NORMAN J. COLMAN of Missouri to be Commissioner of Agriculture.
RICHARD B. HUBBARD of Texas to be
Envoy Extraordinary and Minister Plenipotentiary to Japan.

William W. Lang of Texas to be United States Consul at Hamburg, Germany.
John T. McGraw of West Virginia to be Collector of Internal Revenue, District of West Virginia.

Collector of Internal Revenue, District of West Virginia.

Henry P. Kernochan of Louisiana to be Naval Officer at New Cricaus.

Andrew J. Boyd of North Carolina to be Collector of Internal Revenue, Fifth Dis-trict North Carolina.

Henry G. Pearson to be Postmaster at New York city.

Henry G. Pearson to be Postmaster at New York city.

Of the many surprises the President has sent to the Senate in his nominations nons have been so great as that of Henry G. Pearson to be Postmaster at New York. It was a shock the rank and file were not prepared for. New York Democrats declared Pearson had no other recommendation for the place than that of being a mugwump and having the Indozement of the New York Times. They were amazed and wondered what possessed the President to make the sppointment. There were general predictions that Tammany and the County Democracy would both feel the snub and bolt. Republicans professed to be pleased, saying it would make a split in the Democratic party in New York.

A gentleman very near the President.

A gentleman very near the President, undoubtedly speaking from actual knowledge, reports that the re-appointment of Mr. Pearson was made after a most patient examination of all the facts connected with the charges against him and his answer to the same, which was yesterday submitted and read by the President. The appointment, he thinks, therefore, may be considered a complete vindication of the postmaster.

"This act of the President," he said, other cases those opposed to the party of the President will either be appointed or retained after the expiration of their terms of office."

In answer to the suggestion that the re-appointment of Mr. Pearson night cause great disastisfaction in the ranks of his party, the President is represented as saying:
"The Democratic party is neither hypocritical, impolitic, unpatriotic, or ungrateful—they will understand the whole matter and be satisfied."

SENATE. Immediately after the reading of the ournal, on motion of Mr. Cameron, the Senate proceeded with the consideration of executive business, not withstanding Mr. Van Wyck's appeal to be allowed to report his resolution rescinding all orders made by the Senate since March 4, making pro-visions for "special" clerks during the re-

At 12:20 p. m. the doors were reopened, and Mr. Allison's resolution (submitted on March 26) was adopted. It rescinds the resolution adopted by the Senate on July 5, 1884, which authorized the Sergeant-at-Arms and the Architect of the Capitol to ington. Notwithstanding the disparity in the scores of the two nines, the game for an opening game was very creditable, only seven errors being scored by the Nationals to twelve for the Browns. Houck and Hines, who played with the home nine, did not put in as effective work as was expected. Hines did not make a base hit, while Houck made only one and scored an error. Knowles, at first, did famously, making four base hits. His three errors were doubtless due to lack of practice, and will hardly be repeated.

The Nationals took the lead in the second inning and retained it with ease. The nine is much stronger than last year's Arms and the Architect of the Capitol to rent and prepare suitable rooms outside of the Capitol for the use of the next session of Congress.

Mr. Allison's resolution, submitted on March 26, was then taken up. It provides that a committee of seven Senators be appointed, with leave to also during the recess of the Senate, to carefully examine and report on the first day of the next session by bill or otherwise what reductions should be made in the number and compensation of nning and retained it with ease. The nine is much stronger than last year's nine and needs only practice. The college boys have a creditable team. The same clubs meet again to-day, the game to be called at 4:15. made in the number and compensation of the employes of the Scoate, and any further provisions that may be expedient to curtail and regulate the disbursement of the con-tingent expenses of the Senate.

Mr. Sherman accepted this resolution as the best means of regulating the evi which he had in mind when his resolution proposing to recind all orders made for clerks, &c., since March 1 was introduced.

A DRAMATIC SCENE.

Senator Riddleberger Attacks San ator Evarts in Executive

The New York Sun's Washington corre pondent says it has leaked out that a dramatic scene occurred in the excentive session of the Senate on Thursday. Riddleberger of Virginia made a savage attack upon Senator Evarts, using language which has not been equaled in either branch of Congress since Tristain Burgess uttered the famous diatribe which is said to have killed

John Randolph.

The Virginian had become excited over the fact that on the day before Mr. Evarts, as counsel for the holders of Virginia bonds before the Supreme Court, had all-nided to the "Ropudiators" as rogues and swindlers. As Biddleberger was the very anthor of the so-called "Coupon Killer" bill, his wrath may be imagined. His language, report says, was what is known in portions of the country as the fighting kind, and if Mr. Evarts were to recognize the code, there would certainly be blood-shed. John Randolph.

The Virginia Hotspur was frequently called to order, and all the Senators were excited except one. This was Mr. Evarts, who seemed unconscious of what was going on around him, and nobody yet knows whether he heard what was being said or the internal than the possible however. not. It is thought barely possible, however, that his judifference was feigued and that he has reserved his fire, intending to make a scene in open session, when his tim-

The first witness was Dr. Waters. He stated that on the 5th instant he was called on to attend Mr. Thompson. He found three wounds on the right side of the neck. They only extended through the skin, and were apparently mode with a penknife. Some days later he wascalled to attend him for a more serious wound in the back, which was about half an inch deep. He was also cut across the hand. He sewed up the wounds on the neck to prevent disfiguration.

figuration.

Mr. Thompson stated that the trouble grew out of his desire for Mr. Wright and a ledy whom he brought with him to leave the office. He said there were two offices, one of which was very small. Before leaving the inner office he made a violent threat against witness. When he had retired a little further he threatened to send a man into the office to assault him (the witness, Witness was warmed by send a man into the office to assault him (the witness). Witness was warned by Mr. Armstrong about the danger he was in of being attacked, and he sent for his revolver. This occurred in the morning. Later in the day a stranger came into the office with a note. It was written by Wright. The detendant Simms brought the note. It was of an unfriendly nature. Shortly after he looked up and met Wright face to face with a knife in his hand and began to shoot at him. At this point Wright and Simms both rushed on witness and broke the table down on him at which he was sitting. He drow his at which he was sitting. Witness told them that he bad been defrauded by them and he didn't want to be further defrauded by them. He denied that he was indebted to Wright, but on the contrary the latter was in his debt. He used no other insulting language to the lady except charging them with defrauding him. He denied that he was a notorious character or that he carried a pistol.

At the request of Mr. Smith the note of Wright was put into evidence. It read as follows:

Mr. J. Q. Thompson:

THE FLAG INSULTED.

The Government Will Protest. The Secretary of the Navy on receiving pformation of the insult to the Americae flag by Central America revolutionists telegraphed to Rear Admiral Jouett to proceed to Key West with the Swatara and Ten-nessee, and ordered the Alliance to Aspin-wall. Orders were also issued to the com-mander of the Galena, which are believed to have been to protect the interests of American citizens.

SEVEN LEADING OFFICERS RESIGN

Judge Johnson, the Dean of the De partment, Heads the List-The Others Who Are

To Go.

The CRITIC recently predicted that the Auditors and Comptrollers of the Treasury, whose appointments were political and whose careers have not seemed to bring them within the protection of Civil-Servic law would be the first whose service would be dispensed with by Secretary Manning.

Among the first to go were the First Comptroller and the Third and Sixth Auditors. Yesterday Secretary Manning requested the resignation of the Second Comptroller and the First, Second, Fourth and Fifth Auditors, the Commissioner of Customs and the Deputy First Comptroller The last may be said to include all the

The French Embarrassed by Lack

PARIS, March 31.—The transport de-partment is short of vessels, and Govern-ment agents, who have been quietly en-deavoring to charter steamers, to be used as transports in carrying French troops to Chins, report that the number needed is not obtainable, the agents of the English Government having engaged nearly all the desirable vessels available. This discovery has caused much measiness, as it is now feared re-enforcements in sufficient numbers cannot be sent to China in time to prevent the total annihilation of the French forces operating in Tonquin.

BORDER SMUGGLERS.

The Effect of President Diaz's Recent Proclamation.

DALLAS, TEX., March 31.—News from the ower Blo Grande is to the effect that President Diaz's proclamation for an extra force of 800 men on the frontier, to prevent smuggling, has caused a sensation among merchants on both sides, who are not en-tirely pleased. Smuggling has come to be slarge business, and great fortunes are made at it. There is ten times as much snuggling from this side into Mexico as from Mexico into Texas. Mexican officials grow rich by judicious use of their oppor-tunities, and large amounts of capital are employed in the business by men who are well known.

"The report that the Baitimore & Ohio Co. would join the pool is denied at that company's office. The consolidation of the four companies cannot be effected until sanctioned by the Attorney-General and court. Both companies are confident that the necessary consent will be given, and that no unforeseen obstacle will occur to prevent the succely carrying out of the arrangement. Each company will retain a separate organization with the exception of numerous unnecessary offices, which will be closed."

Crazy on Religion.

CRESTON, Iowa, March 31.—Last December A. T. Rawson of Chicago prophesied the end of the world and the coming of Christ on the 4th of January, 1885. The Kail family, living here, consisting of an aged mother and two daughters, E. A. Kail and wife and several children and Thomas and Jacob Kail, belonged to the Advent seciety. They began to prepare their robes for the great event; Jacob and Thomas resigned positions as clerks in a dry goods house, and the whole family aba dined all worldly pursuits.

house, and the whole family aba dired all worldly pursuits.

Rawson came here from Chicago and soon after his arrival various rumors began to float around about the conduct of the family. Their residence was placed under police surveillance. Last Saturday Thomas Kall appeared on the streets in a nude condition. Rawson, Jacob Kall and several of the family encouraged Thomas in his action, as he was understood to personate Adam's original appearance in the Garden of Eden.

sonate Adam's original appearance in the Garden of Edeu.

The police arrested Jacob and Thomas and Rawson, kept them in jail over Sunday, and yesterday the Mayor fined Rawson and Thomas Kail $20 and costs each, and Jacob Kail $5 and costs. Rawson was taken to the county jail by the sheriff, and went like a "martyr." He said Paul and Christ were persecuted, and he could stand it.
